COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Notices have been sent to eight individuals in town to either clean up their junk yards or make application for a junk yard license. The law was revised last year by the 101st Maine Legislature. The two most important parts of the revision were concerned with the definition of a junk yard and the penalty for violations. A person maintaining an automobile graveyard does not have to be in business selling second-hand auto parts. Just allowing unserviceable autos on the property is enough to define the use as a junk yard. The law also defines a junk yard as three or more automobiles or engines or bodies gathered together on a single property.

The penalty is not much different than under the old law except that each day of violation constitutes a new offense. The law was not enforced in many towns and this town was one of them. The new law has the backing of the Keep Maine Green Association and the Maine Municipal Association. With the cooperation of the people in town, this new law can help the appearance of the town. The property owners have until May 1, 1964, to remove the discarded automobiles. Three and one half months is enough time to take care of these junked cars.

20 SECONDS with the NAZARENE

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father...in heaven" (Mat. 5:16).

Christ insisted that life is a sermon; other lives take up its themes; we are shaping other lives as we live our own.

Life is a sermon, other lives will hear it; is the sermon I am living fully Christian?

GOING-AWAY PARTY FOR CLEMONS FAMILY

Following morning worship in the Methodist Church on Sunday, January 19, the church will have a short get-together in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clemons and family in the dining room.

The Clemons family, well known for their sacrifice and contribution to the church and community will be missed by all. They have served as leaders in the Sunday School where Mrs. Clemons has been superintendent, in the music for our worship where Kathy has been the permanent organist and Mrs. Clemons has been a member of the choir. Robert, Jr., has been active as an MYF member and has played chimes prior to the morning worship each Sunday. Mary Jo has been active in the Junior choir and MYF and other activities involving youth in the church. Mr. Clemons, the head of the family, is well known for his contribution to the Telstar Satellite Station in Andover, and for his good nature. His new appointment with The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Boston is an advancement and is significant of the nature of the whole Clemons family.

Methods of handling the Girl Scout cookie sale were discussed. The sale will take place in March or April. Chairman for Bethel will be Mrs. Herbert Nickerson. New songs and games were introduced. Refreshments of cookies and coffee were available all evening. The next meeting will be March 26 in the Mexico-Bumford area.

SEN. MUSKIE REPORTS
In his State of the Union Message, President Johnson has established an impressive set of goals for the American people in 1964. He has aimed his sights high. He believes that Americans have both the determination and the capacity to face their problems and to develop solutions for those problems. While emphasizing frugality, the President has drafted a blueprint to meet the needs of our people in employment, income, education, civil rights, food, medical care, housing, and transportation. He reemphasized our national goal of world peace and freedom, through a policy of military strength used with wisdom and restraint, and a program of sound investment in economic development. These programs are visionary. They are challenging in the best tradition of our American heritage. When our forefathers drafted the Declaration of Independence in 1776, their ideals

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts—(Col. 3:15). If we allow Christ's spirit of peace to rule our hearts, our minds and our lives, our existence will be a truly harmonious one.

THE HIGH ROAD
L.W. PRENTISS

Winter Driving
The automobile has become so much a part of the life of the typical American family that most of us feel handicapped when the family car is out of commission even for a few hours. When a severe winter storm brings highway travel to a halt, the individual family's frustration is multiplied many thousands.

The inconvenience of being snow-bound is bad enough, but the hazards of driving on icy or snow-covered roads are even worse. States, counties and municipalities are meeting the public demand by extending and improving their winter maintenance programs.

The fight against the elements is well worth the cost. In Ohio, for example, researchers calculated that every dollar spent for snow and ice removal in that State—using snow-plows, chemicals and abrasives—returned more than 12 in benefits to highway users in the form of lower operating costs, less accidents and the reduction of accidents. There are also extensive indirect benefits to retailers and other businesses when road winter maintenance makes "business as usual" possible.

Despite all that is being done by States, counties and municipalities to improve the effectiveness of winter maintenance operations, extra caution is still recommended when cold weather strikes, and this is true even in the areas where snowfall is a rarity. Being conditions can be tricky. For example, water freezes faster on bridge decks because these surfaces are exposed to the air from beneath as well as from above. This means that a bridge may be icy at times when the road at either end is merely wet.

To do your part in avoiding accidents and inconvenience in driving on ice or snow, I suggest that you follow these "ten commandments":
1. Remove ice and snow from windshield and windows before you start, and keep them clear.
2. Start easy. Apply power gradually to avoid spinning the wheels and digging in.
3. Stop easy. Let the engine slow you down. Anticipate stops and avoid quick braking that causes skidding.
4. Drive slowly and avoid braking on curves.
5. Keep plenty of distance between you and the car ahead.
6. Keep your gas tank at least half filled.
7. Invest in snow tires and put them on before the first snow.
8. Avoid chances of carbon monoxide poisoning by checking exhaust pipe and muffler for leaks.
9. If you must use alcohol, use it only in the radiator.
10. If your car has dual transmissions, drive in D.

WINTER WOES

One day in his car, Joe B. Dew, (Dead wiper blades streaking his view) Ran into a bus And caused a great fuss— Which cost him some bucks (not a few)!

PREVENT THOSE WINTER DRIVING WOES
The Safe Winter Driving League presents the following tip for better visibility this winter from the National Safety Council: "Be sure your windshield wiper blades are in good, live condition to prevent streaking. Arms should provide at least an ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length to sweep off snow, sleet and road-muck. You must see danger to avoid it."

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Only those veterans with service connected disabilities are eligible for post payment treatment at VA clinics, the Veterans Administration says.

Repayments would be doubled for veterans receiving training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act who need outpatient medical treatment for service connected disabilities to prevent interruption of training or to hasten return to training.

Outpatient medical treatment including medical, hospital, dental or outpatient clinics at the VA may authorize approved physicians in the veteran's home community to provide it.

All disabilities of veterans of the Indian Wars and of the Spanish American War are considered to be service connected for purposes of outpatient treatment, the VA said.

The great highway performer

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a 164-hp high-compression 424-hp V8—and four transmissions, including a fully honed 4-speed stick shift.

And underlying it all—a bump-absorbing Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer. Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few Jet-smooth rides that help keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

GOULD THEATRIANS TO PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAYS

On Saturday evening, Feb. 1, at 8 o'clock in the Bingham Auditorium, the Gould Academy Senior Class will present three one-act plays, proceeds from which will help defray graduation expenses. The plays consist of two light comedies and a serious drama, selected by Mr. Thompson, the director, from the fifty or so which have been presented over the last 20 years at Gould.

"Bird on the Wing," a comedy, is cast with Ann Thomas, Beverly Shupp, Harry Townsend, Adele Davis, Jeanne Thurber, and Peter Hubbard in the leads. All of these except Ann Thomas, remembered for her fine work in the joint Hebron-Gould production of "The Shadow of a Gunman" last year, are new to Gould dramatists.

"Opening Night," also a comedy, has ten female roles, several with Bethel girls, and one male, but not lonesome, male role. Bill McCall plays the nervous husband of Cornelia Olin Skinner, portrayed by Cindy Freeman, on the eve of her opening in a new Broadway play. Various old school mates and friends drop in to wish her well, all more nervous than she. Other cast members are Cheryl Smith, Linda Dean, Linda Nickerson, Sue Crane, Lorraine Rames, Pat Rames, Eleanor Parker, Sue French, and Chris Carwell.

"The Valiant" ends the program on a note of tragedy, and concerns the pretended ignorance of a schoolmate who on the eve of execution who his sister comes to see him. The small talented group of Gould students who enact this play's tense scene consists of Phil Hines, Candace Kimball, Don Lashen, Steven Bean, and Corey Brown.

Press are being handled by John Young, Don Young, and Corey Brown. Poster chairman is Sarah Burgess. Ticket sellers and ushers are yet to be announced. Makeup will be handled by Mr. Roderick, Mrs. Jacobs, and Mrs. Thompson.
